Principles of Collaboration

- Start with the end in mind–What do we want to achieve?
- Find the blockers-What is standing in the way?
- Identify the assets-Where is the capacity and potential for success?
- Structure the partnership-Who is doing what, when, and where?
- Evaluate and adjust the model, share the results

Cadasta's Partnership Model

Cadasta is a leading global land technology and services platform. Our tools empower vulnerable communities to affordably and easily document, map, and secure inclusive land and resource rights at scale for a more sustainable and equitable planet.

New Collaboration to Document and Issue Certificates of Customary Ownership (CCOs) in Uganda

Start with the End—The Goal

A collaborative process to document, map, and issue CCOs in customary communities left out of land systems

Blockers

- Cost
- Complexity
- Capacity
- Collaboration
- Technology
- Inclusion

Assets

- Political will
- Community will
- Legal process
- Civil society actors
- Fit for Purpose technology
- Training

Partnership Structure

Partner	Role
MoLHUD	Legislation, Registration Process; Social requirements (gender, equity, community engagement)
Cadasta	FFP Technology; Data Model; Training of Trainers; Technical Assistance; Data integration for CCO issuance and NLIS integration

George Kabagambe

Former Chairman of the Area Land Committee and CCO Recipient | Ivukula, Uganda

George is a former Chairman of the Land Committee at Ivukula sub county. “I am so grateful for Cadasta and the Ministry of Lands for the great work done in our community. There has been so much joy in the community because of your work, we did not know that this process could be so simple and yet yield results. Those in the community who received their titles have gone ahead to start making developments on their land and these developments benefit the entire community. Those who were not able to benefit from the program because they were skeptical have since changed their ways and eagerly await more projects of this kind. On behalf of the people of Ivukula sub county, Thank you and you are always welcome to our community.”
